

Methodology

Frontal lectures, in-depth analysis held also by external experts, guided discussions and presentations, legal clinics and case studies, moot courts, linguistic support.

Networking

The program has access to the documentation of “Merlini” Library dedicated to European studies and to the European Documentation Centre of the University Institute of European Studies, both located in the Campus Luigi Einaudi.

Links

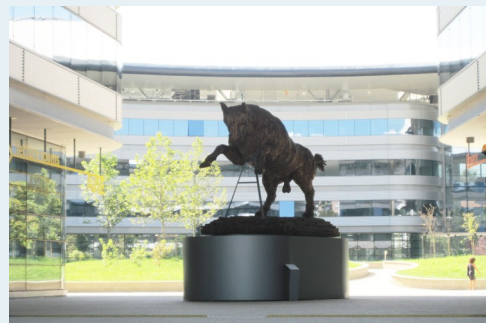

Department of Law
www.giurisprudenza.unito.it

Curriculum available at:
www.giurisprudenza.unito.it/go/sge.html

Contact us

University of Turin
Department of Law
Lungo Dora Siena 100
10153 Torino - Italy

didattica.giurisprudenza@unito.it

Department of Law
University of Turin

Master Program in European Legal Studies

About

A post-graduate Master Program on advanced European, International and Transnational legal Studies, with an optional curriculum wholly taught in English.

A broad and multidisciplinary offer of not only legal courses allowing a broad and targeted choice, enabling students to create a professionally oriented curriculum tailored both on their areas of interest and on their linguistic preferences (Italian, English, mixed).

Student destinations

The Program is addressed to students aiming at careers in the non traditional legal professions, such as international institutions, firms, associations, non-governmental organizations, public affairs advising, in-house counseling, specialized journalism, academia – all requiring a specialist knowledge of European and International law and governance.

Contents

The Program offers 120 ECTS credits over two years. The main fields addressed are International and European economy, International and EU law in the globalized world, EU law in its various material domains, Fundamental rights in the framework of multilevel constitutionalism, Comparative and global administrative law, Private and comparative law in transnational projection, Dispute settlement

